

Crazy Collage: County Colours

W.A.L.T: experiment with paper collage to create maps

We learned already that there are 32 counties in Ireland. We already visited one of them the other day on our road trip.

Can you remember which county we visited already?

Can you name all 32
counties in Ireland
with your group?

Here is some help...

Each of these counties are unique. One way they show how they are different from each other is by their county colours.

Where would you see county colours?

One place you might see county colours is on the county flags. Each county have its own flag with a crest and colours.

What sport would you see these flags flown at mainly?

You would see the county colours at G.A.A matches!

How well do you know
your county colours?
Get your whiteboards ready!

I'm going to show you a county colours. All you have to do is figure out which county these are the colours of. I will even show you their G.A.A jersey too for an extra help!

You can work in your group on this quiz!

Today, we're going to be making a map of Ireland that shows the county colours of each county.

When we put all the pieces back together again, it will be like a jigsaw. The medium we'll be using today is called collage.

What do you notice about this artwork?

Look closely, what do you notice?

These pieces of art are made by an artist from California called Jay Kelly.

Jay uses a technique called collage to make his art pieces. How do you think he makes these pieces?

To make his pictures, Jay first looks for examples of the colour he needs in magazines, newspapers and anywhere else.

He then chops them up small and sticks them where they need to be 'painted'.

Collage can be simple, with just a few shades and tones.

Or it can be complicated, with detailed shades and tones.

Today, we're going to use collage to make our county
colours maps!

First, you need to figure out which county you have been given by finding it on the map of Ireland on your desk.

When you have done that figure out what your county colours are using the key!

Next, it's time to go on a colour hunt! Take a look through the magazine you are given. Keep a look out for whatever colours are your county's.

If you find some cut out that page of the magazine!
